SFX: WOW!

DAMN HIM!

GAAAH!

I WAS HOPEING TO FIND A WORTHY FINAL FOR MY STOMACH...

AND I WAS SOBLY DISAPPOINTED AGAIN THIS YEAR.

GIVE A BIG CHEER FOR THE ULTIMATE CHAMPION PRINCE!

YOU HEARD IT, FOLKS!
IT'S HIS FAMOUS LINE!

STORY: YAMAGISHI DISTRICT EVENT

SFX: GASP!

THAT WAS REALLY DANGER-OUS!

IT LOOKS LIKE NOW
I'M BOTH
A GOOD WARRIOR

HEY, THOSE ARE CHICKEN
EGGS

WOW
THEY'RE SO FAST

SFX: WOW!

SFX: SHORE

THESE KIND OF EVENTS ONLY HAPPEN DURING TIMES OF PEACE AND PROSPERITY.

ALL RIGHT
THEO!

IT'S TIME FOR THE FINAL ROUND!

SOBA!

WELL,
I DO
LIKE SOBA.

I COULD USE THE FREE
MONEY...

OH,
DAD!

ARE YOU
TO JOIN
THIS ONE, TOO?

AND HEY, IT'S JUST
OF FUN!

GGF, IT SUITS...

WHAT'S MIRIAM DOING?

IT
BE...

GGF CLINK

20

WOW

I GUESS
I'M NOT NO GOOD.
HAY?

I'VE NEVER FIND...

A
REAL.
WILL IT

IT LOOKS LIKE...

I WAS JUDGING HER.

SFX: AHH...

SFX: PAUSE

Glossary

Museshirushi: This was a famous bathhouse and restaurant in the Yanagibashi district, an entertainment district in Tokyo at the time.

Manjio: A sweet powdered rice cake filled with ingredients like red bean paste.

Yoshirai: A sort of thick pillared block made from red bean paste.

Sandou: A rice cracker.

Takusan: Pickled daikon radish.

Hojicha: Green tea made with roasted leaves.

Netajiru: A traditional Japanese carved sculpture that was used as a fastener to secure a hanging object to the left or right of the waister.

Tokugawa Iyemasa: In fact, he had 75 children in total.

Crested Ibis: Called a "toki" in Japan, this bird saw such a population decline that they only existed in captivity until a very recent restoration program saw the reintroduction of some birds to the wild.
